- The reshuffle last night is the main local talking point this morning. CR got rid of many Zuma-ites but several still remain in a still extremely bloated cabinet. Positive appointments are Nene in Finance and Pravin in charge of SOEs.
- The ZAR got excited on news of the presser but backed up half of its gains on the detail. USTs also give back some but not all of yesterday's gains in the Asian trade.

- The new week opened with the rand trading in the low 11.50's, the markets awaiting news from the ANC NEC regarding cabinet reshuffles, this saw cautious local dollar buyers emerge and the rand trade steadily weaker throughout the session to trade to a high of 11.6475 around the time of the local close. Last night the President announced various cabinet changes, including the return of Mr Nene to the role of finance minister, and this appears to have provided the rand with renewed, albeit limited support, touching 11.5150 last night, this morning it currently trades at 11.5625, EURZAR is trading at 14.2505 and GBPZAR at 16.1415.
- International markets saw EURUSD pivot around the 1.2300 level, with a marginally firmer bias for the euro, currently trading at 1.2324, sterling had an interesting session, after trading to a high of 1.4070, it tumbled down to a low of 1.3938 in double quick time, currently it trades at 1.3960. Gold has shed some 4 dollars since the same time yesterday, currently trading at 1332.00
- Data releases scheduled for today, locally no releases, from Europe we have French consumer confidence, German CPI and various confidence indicators for the Eurozone, from the U.S trade, durable goods, house price index, consumer confidence, Richmond FED manufacturing and Powell from the FED scheduled to testify.
- The aforementioned changes in the cabinet, have been long anticipated, some of the changes very well received, but concerns have been raised that some of the appointments appear to have been compromise candidates.
- Possible trading range in the rand today 11.4000 to 11.7000

Foreign flows

- The SA market attracted almost R17 billion worth of foreign capital inflows last week, with a bulk of this inflow moving into the bond market, which is in stark contrast to the previous weeks' trends.
- Media speculation over a cabinet reshuffle which eventually materialised last night, along with the euphoria over a CR presidency, better budget and an upbeat SONA were some of the reasons driving foreign capital flows recently.
- For the YTD, we are now at a healthy R35.5 billion inflow, much stronger compared to the same period over the last few years.
