- Yesterday the local session opened with the rand trading in the mid 11.60's , on the day , we again encountered demand for dollars , although the extent of this demand was limited and the local unit was confined to a trading range between 11.6225 and 11.6950 , the session closing with the rand trading at 11.6550.
- The overnight session similarly constrained, this morning we are currently trading at 11.6450, EURZAR is at 14.4550 and GBPZAR at 16.5350.
- The international markets saw the dollar initially post a modest recovery , this as indications were that the potential for a trade war were dissipating , EURUSD trading from a high of 1.2474 down to 1.2374 , closing the day trading sub 1.2400, this morning the European unit again trading above that pivot.
- After posting consecutive gains over the most recent sessions, gold has relinquished some of these recent gains, after trading at 1353.00 at the time of the local open, it closed the day trading at 1342.40 where it continues to trade.
- Data releases scheduled for today, no local releases but we have the MPC announcement today, consensus view in the market for a 25 basis point cut, from Europe we have German and French consumer confidence, from the U.S we have mortgage applications, trade, GDP, personal consumption, PCE core and pending home sales.
- The ratings agency news of late, including suggestions from S&P yesterday that the local outlook may have bottomed out, are likely to be interpreted as rate cut friendly.
- Possible trading range in the rand today 11.5000 to 11.8000.

South Africa

- A strong performance by Tencent in Hong Kong caused our Top40 to gap up at the open but that euphoria waned and our market lost -800 points to close down -0.3%. (Resi +0.5%, Fini -0.8% & Indi -0.3%)
- The stable continued to be weak, banks, precious metals and healthcare were the other sectors showing significant weakness.
- Capitec release their 28Feb18 FY results that showed they slightly missed expectations but their expansion plans helped close the stock up +0.7%.
- After the close, Sanlam announced a new share issue capital raise of R5.7 billion to part fund increasing their stake in Saham finances.
- The value traded was R20.6 billion and the rand was trading around 11.65 to the US dollar at the close

UK/Europe

- After opening in the black, European markets traded in a narrow sideways direction till the close. (Cac +1%, FTSE +1.5% & Dax +1.6%)
- The easing of war fears between the US and China boosted the region and with these moves Monday's losses were reversed.
- In company news, the Casino Group, a Paris retailer, jumped +4% after signing a distribution deal with Amazon. In Lobdon, GlaxoSmithKline rallied +5% after agree to buy Novartis' stake in their joint venture.

USA

- Uncertainty persisted in the US market evidenced by the ferocious swings back and forth across the unchanged mark in the morning session.
- The major US indexes closed firmly in negative territory led by a sharp sell-off in tech stocks. (Dow -1.4%, S&P500 -1.7% & Nasdaq-2.9%)
- Facebook led the losses in the Nasdaq plummeting -5% after CEO and founder Mark Zuckerberg is planning to testify before Congress following the user data breach and Cambridge Analytica scandal.

Asia

- Asian markets are firmly in the red taking the cue from a weak close on Wall Street last night, the MSCI Asia Pacific ex-Japan is up -1.2%.
- Lower commodity prices are adding further pressure to an already fragile sentiment around the region dragging resources lower. Bhp Billiton is currently trading down -1.2% in Australia this morning.
- Tencent is currently trading down -3% in Hong Kong this morning.

US

- US consumer confidence index eased to 127.7 index points in March, from 130 previously, worse than consensus of 131. Both sentiment over the current situation and expectations of the future deteriorated.
- Confidence levels tend to deteriorate in the first quarter of the year as economic activity deteriorates due to the seasonal cold conditions.
- Perceived employment conditions and income prospects deteriorated, while fewer people had plans to buy expensive durable goods, appliances and houses in March.

Synopsis: In this type of environment, and assuming the very robust pace of growth persists over the medium term, the Fed is expected to hike interest rates two more times this year, with some policymakers indicating that the pace of hikes may be revised if greater inflationary pressures are seen. For now, because the core PCE rate is below the Fed's 2% target, we anticipate a moderate pace of tightening over the medium term.

Europe

- The Eurozone Business Climate Indicator (BCI) fell to 1.34 index points in March, from 1.48 previously, worse than consensus of 1.36.
- Industrial confidence, services confidence and economic confidence all deteriorated, while consumer confidence remained unchanged.
- Despite the lower confidence levels, actual economic activity still remains positive and well above potential, but inflation remains low. Domestic demand, and by implication confidence levels, have been the key driver of Eurozone economic recovery, along with trade conditions which have been buoyant.

Synopsis: The ECB recently sounded more upbeat about Eurozone growth, however this hasn't translated into a sustainable rise in inflation, thereby keeping the ECB cautious. The ECB continues to reiterate that even though the asset purchase programme will be halved this year, and possibly come to an end soon, its holdings and reinvestments will be supportive of financial conditions and the economy over the medium term.
