Key overnight factors and upcoming events this week

Nedbank CIB Market Commentary | CIBMarketComm@Nedbank.co.za | +27 11 294 1753

Date	Region	Event   	Actual/expected/prior	Implications
05/04	SA	SACCI business confidence	97.6/--/98.9	Business confidence is expected to remain upbeat. However, there is some risk of disappointment on the back of the recent land reform debate and the negative media coverage of it
06/04	US	Labour market data	--	Nonfarm payrolls is expected to ease in March after the sharp increase in February, unemployment rate may drop, while the key will be how average hourly earnings reacts
10/04	SA	Manufacturing production	--/--/2.5%	Output expected to remain positive in March, however sharp drop in PMI reflects some easing from the February print
11/04	CH	Inflation	--	CPI and PPI are expected to ease sharply in March after the surge in February
11/04	US	CPI	--/2.3%/2.2%	CPI is expected to rise marginally on the back of food and energy costs

- The local unit opened the session trading at the 11.90 mark, and hovered around the opening levels for most of the day, failing to gain any traction. The rand weakened as the day drew to a close but was met with decent selling interest ahead of the 12.0000 handle, reaching a high of 11.9875. Many were under the impression that the trade war between the world's 2 largest economies had subsided, but further comments from Trumps administration last night proved otherwise. The dispute escalates as Trump is due to increase the tariffs from the initial $50bln to $100bln on the back of China's retaliation. This is the main driver of further weakness in the rand at the moment as we touched 12.0225 this morning in Asia, with it currently trading at 12.0200.
- International markets saw most major's trade weaker on the day on the back of a stronger dollar. The Euro dipped to a low of 1.2219, and this morning opens at 1.2237. Sterling broke the 1.4000 mark and got down to 1.3965 post the local close. Opening this morning at 1.3992. The yen opened sub 107.00 now trading at 107.33. Despite the Global tension spiking, Gold has not reacted as much as expected. Trading $4 firmer on the open at $1328.
- On the data front we have US NFP, Unemployment data and Average hourly earnings. Locally former president J Zuma will be in court facing corruption charges, though this may not impact the currency markets, will be interesting to see the outcomes.
- Possible trading range: 11.9000 - 12.2000

South Africa

- Our market tracked global markets higher, with most sectors showing notable gains. The Top 40 added 2.18% closing at 49097.70. The mining sector benefitted from the High Court ruling in favour of the once empowered, always empowered principle on Wednesday. The gold price traded lower, dragging gold miners lower, with moderate support from a weaker currency.
- The value traded at the close was R21.7 billion and the ZAR was trading at 11.97 vs the dollar.

UK/Europe

- European markets ended Thursday's session with strong gains as trade war fears between the US and China eased. Basic resources and tech stocks were the outperformers, together with heavyweight financials. Germany's DAX was the best performer in the region, gaining 2.9%, as they are most exposed to China. The FTSE 100 added 2.35%, while France's CAC40 rose 2.62%.

USA

- US markets closed firmer for the third consecutive session, with traders optimistic that the two countries could come to fair trade agreement. The VIX fell 1.12%, its lowest close in more than two weeks. Energy stocks, steel and chemical stocks saw significant strength, with weakness seen in semiconductor and biotech stocks. The Dow added 1%, the Nasdaq rose 0.5% and the S&P 500 ended the day up 0.7%.

Asia

- Asian markets are trading mixed this morning, swinging between gains and losses, after Donald Trump instructed US trade officials to consider $100billion in additional tariffs to China. Investors were also taking a cautious stance ahead of the US jobs report which will be released later today. Oil stocks are firmer, buoyed by stronger oil prices. Tencent in Hong Kong was up 2.11%. In Australia, gold stocks eased lower, while the like of BHP Billiton and South 32 rose 0.53% and 0.46% respectively and Rio Tinto was slightly lower, down 0.14%

Europe

- Eurozone retail sales growth rose to 1.8% y/y in February, from 1.5% in January, worse than consensus of 2.2%. Sales were driven by food, drink and tobacco, pharmaceutical goods and medical products.
- Strong retail activity was recorded in Ireland, Spain and France, while German sales disappointed. We are likely to see a further improvement in the retail sales print in March as a result of Easter shopping and sales.

Synopsis: The ECB recently sounded more upbeat about Eurozone growth, however this hasn't translated into a sustainable rise in inflation, thereby keeping the ECB cautious. The ECB continues to reiterate that even though the asset purchase programme will be halved this year, and possibly come to an end soon, its holdings and reinvestments will be supportive of financial conditions and the economy over the medium term.

SA

- The SACCI Business Confidence Index disappointed slightly in March, falling to 97.6 index points, from 98.9 in February. This comes down from a relative high of 99.7 points in January. However SACCI seemed relatively upbeat about the business confidence trend, as it does remain higher than levels seen a year ago. Most subcomponents within the index are still positive on an annualised basis, but the momentum has slowed. Three out of 13 subcomponents were positive and six were negative.
- Positive contributors towards the BCI were better exports, lower financing costs, and falling inflation. In contrast, the largest negative impact was from lower imports, retail sales, and the value of building plans. On an annualised basis, most of the above were positive.
- Encouragingly, SACCI noted that the economy picked up some steam into 4Q17 and 1Q18 – this was due to better world growth, an acceleration in local economic activity, an increase in consumption spending, capex flows and foreign capital flows.
- The attempts to strengthen the country's institutional framework, undo financial mismanagement within the state, changes to the Cabinet and the efforts by government to provide some policy certainty were some of the reasons keeping confidence levels from reverting towards the previous falling trend – tangible results are now needed to keep confidence levels up.

Synopsis: Better confidence levels is likely the key underpin to economic prosperity, as this leads to better spending, increased investment and job creation. For now, local developments have been buoying confidence, and despite the recent cooling off in the business confidence index, levels are likely to remain above that seen in 2017.
