- Yesterday, the local session opened with the rand trading marginally above the 17.0000 level. In a continuation of the move of the previous session, the rand extended its gains as renewed USD selling interest saw it breach the 17.0000 level and reach a best level of 16.8750 on the day. After the open of the New York session, the rand did encounter some USD buyers, which saw it trade back towards the 17.0000 level by the time of the local close. The overnight session was exceptionally subdued. The local unit currently trades at 16.9850, the EURZAR is trading at 19.0715 and the GBPZAR is trading at 21.1585.
- The international markets saw the major currency pairs relinquish their recent gains relative to the USD. After a brief foray towards the 1.1300 level, the EURUSD has drifted to currently trade at 1.1230. The GBPUSD currently trades at 1.2460, after having touched a high of 1.2530 yesterday. Gold has this morning recovered some of the USD posted over the most recent sessions, currently trading back at 1,775.85, some USD10 firmer than the same time yesterday.
- Data releases scheduled for today: locally, we have the PMI; from Europe, we have Markit services and composite PMI releases; and from the UK, we have the same. In the US, the federal government is closed as they observe the Independence Day holiday.
- The rand has posted steady gains over the course of the week thus far, against a backdrop of an accelerating rate of local COVID-19 infections. On the international front, US employment data beat forecasts, and this buoyed US equity markets yesterday. Activity today is likely to be exceptionally limited and liquidity tested due to the holiday in the US.
- Possible trading range for the rand today: 16.7500 to 17.2500

Nedbank CIB Market Commentary | CIBMarketComm@Nedbank.co.za | +27 11 537 4091 | +27 11 535 4038

- Oil slipped but remained on track for a weekly gain as aggressive supply cuts and better-than-expected U.S. data overshadowed a surge in coronavirus cases. Futures fell toward $40 a barrel in Asian trading but are still up 4.9% for the week.
- Gold headed for a fourth weekly gain as concerns over the resurgence of coronavirus cases countered better-than-expected monthly U.S. jobs data. Spot gold little changed at $1,776.33/oz; 0.3% this week.
- Silver steady, platinum +0.3%, and palladium +0.2%. Base-metal futures are broadly lower in late-morning Asian trade as a spike in Covid-19 cases in the U.S. dampens market sentiment. The three-month LME copper contract is down 0.4% at $6,048 a metric ton. The three-month LME nickel contract is up 0.6% at $13,035 a ton. Iron ore prices are on the slide, dropping into the $90s a ton on indications that surging global supplies are easing tightness in the seaborne market.

Equities

Cash equities | +2711 535 4030/31

South Africa

- The Top40 added 1.5%, buoyed by risk-on sentiment returning as better jobs numbers out of the US lifted global risk assets.
- The telecom sector led the gains, with the index adding 5.51%, boosted by a strong performance from MTN, which rallied 8.1%. Despite the risk/sentiment overhang, MTN's very attractive valuation at c.7x PE (4.1x PE ex HIS stake value) is unlikely to be sustainably ignored given its defensive growth profile and tangible non-operational catalysts. We forecast that MTN will grow earnings/FCF at a two-year CAGR of 12%/24% in rand terms.
- The value traded at the close was R20.9bn, and the rand was trading at 16.96 against the USD.

UK/Europe

- Encouraging global economic data and hopes of a COVID-19 vaccine boosted sentiment across Europe.
- The Stoxx 500 gained 2%, with all major sectors trading well in the green.
- Banks outperformed, with the index adding 4.3%, while automakers came in second, gaining 3.4%.
- Among individual stocks, Associated British Foods rose 4.1% after trading in its Primark fashion stores following the lockdown had been "reassuring and encouraging".
- Scandal-hit Wirecard tumbled 35.4% after police and public prosecutors raided its headquarters in Munich and four properties in Germany and Austria.
- The FTSE added 1.34%, the CAC 40 rose 2.49% and the DAX gained 2.84%.

USA

- US markets closed higher, with better-than-expected jobs data offsetting the continued concern over a spreading wave of COVID-19.
- The Nasdaq closed at an all-time high, and the S&P 500 posted its fourth straight daily gain.
- The US economy added 4.8m jobs in June, 1.8m more than expected and a second consecutive record.
- All but two of the major 11 S&P sectors closed firmer. Materials saw the biggest gain, while the real estate and communications sectors closed lower.
- The Dow rose 0.36%, the S&P 500 added 0.45% and the Nasdaq gained 0.52%.

Asia

- Asian markets are trading mostly firmer this morning, taking their lead from the strong markets globally.
- In Japan, investors were taking a cautious stance, a day after Tokyo reported a spike in COVID-19 cases.
- The Hang Seng was up 0.84% at the time of writing and Tencent was up 0.19%.
- Australian stocks are heading for their fourth straight session of gains, with the index set to rise almost 35% for the week.
- Healthcare, financial and industrial stocks led the gains.
