- On Thursday, the local session got underway with the rand trading marginally below the 15.0000 level. After having posted gains for much of the week, the rand traded with a weaker bias throughout the local session. Although the volume of trade remained limited, the local unit edged towards the highs at 15.1250 going into the local close. Since that time, the rand has staged a modest recovery to currently trade at 15.0200; the EURZAR is currently trading at 17.9550 and the GBPZAR at 20.5250.
- The international markets saw the EURUSD continue on its recent declining trajectory. After having opened above the 1.2000 level, it has this morning traded to a low of 1.1954, where it currently trades. The GBPUSD savoured a reversal of fortunes as the BoE left rates unchanged and indicated it believed the economy was set for a rapid recovery; this saw the GBPUSD trade from 1.3582 to 1.3698 rapidly; this morning, it is currently trading at 1.3674. Gold has continued its decline to currently trade at 1,796.55, having opened the week trading at 1,865.00.
- Data releases scheduled for today: locally, we have gross and net foreign reserves; from Europe, we have German factory orders and French trade and current account releases; and from the US, we have NFP, manufacturing payrolls, unemployment, average hourly earnings, participation rate, consumer credit and trade releases.
- The rand has now breached back above the 15.0000 level, after having failed to meaningfully test the recent lows around 14.9000. Today, the focus will be on the US data and, as a result, price action is likely to be cautious ahead of this event and liquidity tested.
- Possible trading range for the rand today: 14.9000 to 15.4000

South Africa

- JSE in a nutshell:

Top40 +1.15%; yesterday, it felt like a wall of money was chasing EMs; US jobs data surprised, boosting risk-on sentiment even further. Gold index -3.25%; only major index in the red; gold price dropped 2.43%, reaching two-month lows; US 10yr up and strong USD. Telcos +3.85%; TKG +6.17%, MTN +4.5%, while VOD +2.69% cooled down as we went into the close; SAP +6.3% resumed rally after numbers. SA Inc. was well bid despite a weaker rand -0.86%; banks +2.67%, GenRet +3.89% and SAPY +1.58% as more money flows to the sector. Worth noting: US durable goods orders beat coming in at 0.5% vs 0.2%; factory orders also dazzled at 1.1% vs 0.7%; initial jobless claims 779k vs 830k. Turnover decent at R25.4bn; 1m RES at 3,940, 229k BTI, 1.7m IPL 4,480, 950k RLO 3,865, 292k DGH, 8.6m L2D, 1.2m LBH, 122k MNP.

UK/Europe

- European shares rose as investors assessed earnings reports, while UK banking stocks climbed after the Bank of England said the economy is poised for a rapid recovery amid a vaccination push. The Stoxx Europe 600 Index was up 0.6% by the close in London, with gains in financial shares offsetting declines in heavyweights such as Unilever Plc and Royal Dutch Shell Plc after their results disappointed investors. Bayer AG also climbed after it announced a plan to resolve future lawsuits. UK domestic lenders such as Lloyds Banking Group Plc and NatWest Group Plc advanced after the Bank of England forecast growth in 2021 of 5%, a partial recovery from a slump of twice that magnitude last year. This is seen as reducing the threat to interest income from potential further rate cuts, even though the central bank told lenders to be ready for them.

USA

- Stocks extended their rally into a fourth day as traders parsed through a flurry of corporate results amid signs the US labour market may be gradually improving. The USD rose. The S&P 500 climbed to a record high, led by banks and tech shares, as the Russell 2000 Index jumped 2%. eBay Inc. and PayPal Holdings Inc. surged on upbeat forecasts, while Netflix Inc. gained after raising the price of its service in Japan. GameStop Corp. had another day of heavy losses, with this week's plunge exceeding 80% as retail traders flocked to other corners of the stock market such as small drug developers. A widely watched segment of the Treasury yield curve steepened to levels last seen in 2015. After the close of regular trading, Peloton Interactive Inc. slumped after warning that profit will be squeezed, as it cannot keep up with demand for its connected exercise machines. Ford Motor Co. rose as earnings beat analyst estimates. The bull market in US stocks remains on a "solid footing" as the rebound in activity and corporate profits, alongside an accommodative Federal Reserve, creates a supportive environment for equities, according to UBS Group AG. A report Thursday showed jobless claims fell to the lowest since November, and the next major update on the economy comes on Friday – with analysts forecasting the labour market added about 100,000 jobs in January after a 140,000 drop in December. Selected high-frequency data, such as weekly consumer-confidence readings, also point to some strengthening.

Asia

- Asian stocks pushed higher Friday after their US peers climbed to a record high on signs of a healing labour market and improving coronavirus trends. Treasuries were steady after a widely watched segment of the yield curve steepened to levels last seen in 2015. Japan and Hong Kong were among markets leading the gains. S&P 500 futures ticked higher after the benchmark closed up more than 1%, led by banks and tech shares, while the Russell 2000 Index of smaller companies climbed 2%. Earnings remained in focus, with eBay Inc. and PayPal Holdings Inc. surging on upbeat forecasts. In Hong Kong, short-video startup Kuaishou Technology surged more than 190% on its debut after one of the city's biggest initial public offerings in years.
