- On Thursday, the rand was trading around the 14,9800 level at the time of the local open. The rand found favour on the day, which saw it post steady gains for much of the session to reach a best level on the day of 14,8250, although it ended the local session off its best levels at 14,8900. In the overnight sessions, the local unit traded marginally weaker; currently, the USDZAR is trading at 14,9650, the EURZAR is currently at 17,2885 and the GBPZAR is at 20,3715.
- The international markets saw a continuation of the recent theme, with the major currency pairs continuing to trade within limited ranges. The EURUSD this morning is currently trading at 1,1550, which is effectively unchanged from the same time yesterday. The GBPUSD this morning is currently trading at 1,3608, which is marginally off from its closing levels last night. Gold has also held steady of late, currently trading at 1 758,75.
- Data releases scheduled for today: there are no local releases; from Europe, we have German trade and current account releases; and from the US, we have non-farm and manufacturing payrolls, unemployment, average hourly earnings, the participation rate and wholesale inventories.
- The rand, along with its emerging-market peers, found some favour on the day. The local unit's performance was purportedly driven by a more hawkish SARB; this, combined with limited liquidity, saw it trade into the low 14,80s yesterday. Market focus today will be firmly on the US data that, combined with an extended weekend in the US, is likely to see some position squaring as the market heads into the close.
- Possible trading range for the rand today: 14,7500 to 15,2500

- Commodity prices are better bid this morning, with benchmark crude oil prices rising sharply as US officials watered down the prospects of releasing supplies from their strategic reserves. Brent crude oil is nearing USD83 per barrel, and that has seen the rand rice of Brent rise comfortably back above R1 200 per barrel. Gold is better bid and marking near USD1 760 per ounce while PGMs are mixed with platinum at USD988 per ounce while palladium is lower, marking at USD1 960 per ounce.

South Africa

- Top40 +2,1%. We traded higher throughout the session and closed at the best levels of the day. Precious metals (+6,4%) led gains, with industrials (+1,7%) following suit; financials (-0,7%) continued to struggle, with banks (-0,7%) extending their move lower – down 3,3% over the past six sessions. MNP (+0,5%) released a 3Q update that read well given pricing power in tight markets remained intact. Underlying EBITDA for the third quarter was EUR388m, up 27%. TFG (+1,3%) gave us a 1H trading update that did not show an exact earnings number, but did indicate HEPS to increase by more than 100% of 364c, which is higher than what both Nedbank and cons were looking for (results on 11 November 2021). KST (-5,5%), 1H numbers showed recurring HEPS increased by 23% to 30,6c and div increased 25% to 10c.

UK/Europe

- European stocks had their biggest gain in more than two months as concerns over the energy crisis eased and investors were reassured by the European Central Bank considering fresh support to prevent market turmoil when emergency aid is phased out. The Stoxx 600 Europe Index climbed 1,6% by the close in London, the most since 21 July, with all sectors advancing, led by miners, automakers and technology. Energy shares underperformed.

USA

- US stocks climbed on Thursday as optimism grew that Congress would extend the US debt ceiling. Shares pared gains after the 10-year Treasury yield rose to its highest level since mid-June. The benchmark S&P 500 index gained 0,8%. Ten of the 11 major industry groups rose, with the materials and consumer discretionary sectors leading, while the utilities sector was the lone loser. The tech-heavy Nasdaq 100 index jumped 0,9%, while the blue-chip Dow Jones Industrial Average rallied 1%. The VIX fell 7% to 19,5, below its one-year average of 21,2.

Asia

- Asian stocks rose for a second day as China's market reopened higher to trade +1% and the US Senate approved a short-term increase in the debt ceiling. The MSCI Asia Pacific Index advanced as much as 1% in a broad rally led by consumer discretionary shares. Alibaba and Tencent were among the biggest contributors to the move. Asia's stock benchmark is barely higher for the week as rising bond yields weigh on tech-heavy indices in South Korea, Taiwan and Japan. The gauge is down about 1% this month amid a growing energy crisis in China and India.
